BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

CARRYING water on both shoulders is hard. Carrying water on one shoulder, light wine and beer on the other, is harder. Democrats at Houston find themselves with a wild prohibition debate on their hands before the convention starts.

• • •

IT will take good management to harmonize the solid dry South and big wet northern cities.

The Republicans simply went dry, trusting the nation's common sense to realize that to talk dry does not mean to be dry.

• • •

PRINCE ALEXANDER DABISCHA KOTROMANICZ plans to swoop down on Belgrade and make himself. He will swoop literally if his plans work out, going by airplane, well escorted, taking advantage of the riots following an attempt to murder Raditch.

• • •

THE prince has recently been a chauffeur in Berlin. But many princes have had to disgrace themselves with honest work since the big war, and any sort of man can become ruler if he has it in him. The present Shah of Persia was recently employed in British stables. And the ruler of Manchuria recently blown into the other world by a bomb under his railway carriage was a modest Chinese brigand.

AMERICAN money is restoring the magnificent Louvain library, and American foolishness insists on disfiguring the good work with this inscription: "Destroyed by German fury; restored by American generosity."

• • •

MONSIGNOR P. LADEUZE, rector of Louvain University, objects to the inscription because it keeps alive war hatreds, but the American architect, who invented the boastful, silly inscription, insists that it must remain.

• • •

IT would seem that Louvain might decide the question. Anyhow, the foolish lettering can be easily chiseled off later. If Germany will go on paying $900,000,000 a year gold to the allies, in atonement for the kaiser's foolishness, that ought to satisfy.

LONG ago Franklin sent a kite toward the clouds and proved that electricity and lightning are the same thing.

What that thing is men do not know yet. But they do know how to control and use it.

• • •

YESTERDAY, at the national capital, within sight of Washington's monument and the Lincoln memorial, electricity was used to kill three young men in Washington's brand-new electric chair.

Franklin would be surprised to know what his kite experiment has produced. A great nation's capital abolishing the gallows and substituting an electric killing machine does itself no honor.

IN Germany, every day on the average, 230 apply for patents, and the practical German mind rarely seeks to protect foolish ideas. Germany's revival will come largely from her patent office, from thinking, highly educated Germans, leading the world in chemistry and in many lines. The greatest mine of wealth, and the only mine inexhaustible, is the human mind. One man's concentrated thinking may mean billions in wealth for the world. Use your brain.

SLEEPY days in Wall Street lately. The patient, after a bad attack of hysteria, is resting quietly, occasionally asking, "Where am I?"

FIND LOOT OF $3,500 IN RAID NEAR URBANA

Sheriffs of Three Counties, Including Deal of Marion, Locate Hideaway

SIX PERSONS ARRESTED

Merchandise Taken From Prospect Hardware Store Found in Cache

One of the largest rings for concealing stolen property ever found in the rural sections of central Ohio was raided yesterday by sheriffs officials from Marion, Champaign and Madison Counties.

According to Sheriff James Deal who participated in the raid, more than $3,500 worth of stolen goods was found on the farm of Edward Kline, located six miles east of Urbana and one mile south of the Marysville-Urbana-rd.

Six persons, including Kline and his 72-year-old wife, Lenora Kline, a stepson, William Rubins, a son, Eddie Kline, Robert Vermillion and Jack West are in jail.

The raid followed their arrest by Champaign County officials. Mr. and Mrs. Kline and William Rubins are in the Champaign County Jail at Urbana. The other three are confined in the Madison County jail at London.

Recover Prospect Goods

Goods stolen from the Lauer Brothers hardware store at Prospect last March 11 was among the stolen articles recovered, according to Sheriff Deal.

Suspicion has been directed toward the Klines for sometime but due to the cleverness employed in concealing the loot no charges could be placed against them, officers said. The raid made yesterday, however, revealed property that had been stolen years ago.

The raid was made by Sheriff Deal and Deputy Vane Leland of Marion County, Sheriff Blough and Deputy Gorman Clark of Madison County and Sheriff Pearl Jones and Constable Sylvester Wolf of Champaign County. More than 30 farmers living in the vicinity of the Kline farm assisted in the raid.

Charges Made

Charges of burglary and concealing stolen property were placed against the six arrested.

According to Sheriff Deal the burglary of the Prospect store was made by Vermillion, Eddie Kline and

G. O. P. PROGRAM IS ARRANGED FOR MEET

Warner to Call Convention Delegates to Order at Columbus

Columbus, June 23—A tentative program for the Republican state convention, which is to open at 3 p. m., Thursday, June 28, in Memorial Hall here, was announced today at Republican state headquarters.

The delegates to the two-day convention will be called to order at the initial session by Chairman Fred W. Warner, Marion, of the Republican State Central Committee, who will act as temporary chairman it was stated.

This convention is scheduled to be unique in that the program does not provide for any "keynote" address.

The primary purpose of the convention, in accord with statutory provisions, is to select the Republican candidates for Ohio's representation in the electoral college which next January will elect a president and vice president of the United States, and to adopt a platform which will serve as a basis for this year's G. O. P. state campaign.

The tentative program for the opening session calls for 30-minute addresses by Attorney General Edward C. Turner, Columbus; Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, and Congressman James T. Begg, Sandusky, all candidates for Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Music will be furnished by the Men's Republican Glee Club of Columbus at the initial session, and various standing committee, including those on resolutions, credentials, permanent organization, and rules and order of business will be announced.

Selection of electoral college candidates and adoption of the state platform will bring the convention to a close.

HONOR VETERANS

Unveil Memorial to Spanish-American Soldiers at Columbus

Columbus, June 23—A memorial to Ohio veterans of the Spanish-American war is to be unveiled with appropriate ceremonies this afternoon on the statehouse campus. The memorial, known as "The Spirit of '98," has been placed at the west entrance to the capitol. It will be unveiled by Miss Ina Carroll, president of the Ohio Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, and by the wife of [illegible] Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, who will preside. Former U. S. Senator [illegible] will deliver the principal address.

MORE SUPPLIES TAKEN NOBILE IN AIRPLANE

Flier to Put Runners on Craft; Hopes to Rescue Men

Rome, June 23—A powerful, Swedish, tri-motored Junkers seaplane has located the stranded Nobile party on the ice off the coast of Northeast Land dropping weapons, storage batteries and rubber boats, said a radiogram from King's Bay this afternoon. The occupants of the plane spotted the Nobile encampment upon the ice at 8:30 o'clock last night and dropped supplies attached to parachutes.

Commander Tornberg, pilot of the plane, plans to equip it with runners for a landing on the ice. Then, he hopes, he can pick up the six members of the Nobile group and carry them to King's Bay.

Weather conditions have improved off the northern coast of Spitzbergen.

The commander of the Nobile supply ship Citta Di Milano sent a wireless request that search be made for the seven members of the Nobile expedition who were carried away with the envelope of the dirigible Italia when it was wrecked on May 25 in a storm. In addition to these seven men three others are missing. They are Dr. Finn Malmgren, Capt. Alberto Mariano and Capt. Filippo Zappi who set out across the ice to try to reach land after the wreck of the balloon.

AL SMITH WILL NOT RECOMMEND PLANK

Governor Asserts He Said His Piece on Prohibition Thursday

Albany, N. Y., June 23—Gov. Al. Smith will not recommend any plank on the subject of prohibition to the Democratic national convention at Houston, he said early today after arriving from New York, where he conferred with party leaders before they left for the convention to push his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"All I have to say on prohibition I said Thursday," the governor continued.

The executive will remain silent until the convention has acted, his associates said, and he will make no public utterances on any of the party issues until after that issue has been settled by the convention.

FLIER KILLED

Student Dies in Airplane Crash on Golf Club Grounds

Camden, N. J., June 23—One student flyer was reported killed and another seriously injured in an airplane crash on the ground of the Pine Valley Golf Club today. First reports failed to give details of the crash or the names of the fliers.

The students were said to have taken the plane for a trial flight without permission and it crashed to the ground from a height of only a few feet.

HOPE TO STIFLE ALL CONFLICTS OF DEMOCRATS

Quiet But Energetic Campaign Goes Forward to Aid Smith

COALITION EFFORTS FAIL

Task of Harmonizers Is to Soft Pedal Prohibition Fight

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
Star Staff Correspondent

Houston, Tex., June 23—A quiet but extremely energetic campaign was under way here today to stifle the sounds of conflict already beginning to rise in connection with the Democratic convention which opens Tuesday.

It is predicated thus:

"Smith is going to be nominated. Why hamstring him, then, by repeating Madison Square Garden?"

In this campaign are, first of all, the active supporters of the governor. Of more importance is the fact there are a number of southerners who would rather see someone else nominated but who are convinced no one else will be, and want to make the best of the situation.

Coalition Fails

Early efforts to form a bitter-end, anti-Smith coalition have failed. Thus far efforts along this line haven't made much headway. There are half a dozen rival candidates, each with his small following and each determined to "stop Smith" but there is totally lacking the co-ordination necessary to success.

For the first time since 1912, a memorable year to Democrats, it is pointed out, a Republican convention has just concluded its work by doing a lot of wash in public. The agricultural discontent in the normally Republican Middle West, coupled with the slashing attack that is planned on the Republican scandals, oil and otherwise, has convinced a lot of Democrats that they have a real chance to win in November.

Therefore, they want, if possible, to present here in Houston a reasonably harmonious convention and get away as soon as possible.

Would Soft Pedal Fight

This task of the harmonizers is to soft pedal the prohibition fight.

The radical drys are militant and determined to hammer into the platform a plank calling for the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, and to make the issue a fight to the finish.

Complete program for the Odd Fellows memorial service to be held at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday was announced this morning by lodge officials in charge of the services.

Odd Fellows attending the services are to meet at Kosciusko lodge rooms at 10 o'clock. The lodge members, led by the Canton Marion, No. 66, Patriarchs Militant in full dress uniform, will march from the lodge rooms to the church.

The parade will be under the direction of George Laughman, marshal of the day.

The prince broke the news to an astonished Hollywood, when the paternity of the youngster was sought by puzzled friends of the couple. Miss Murray and the prince were married in June, 1926.

WILL APPOINT SUCCESSORS TO HOOVER, WORK

Two Cabinet Posts Are Vacated by Resignations of Incumbents

OHIOAN IS CONSIDERED

Commerce Secretary May Have Much to Say About Appointments

Washington, June 23—Within six weeks, President Coolidge will be called on to fill two cabinet posts as a result of the resignations of Secretary of Commerce Hoover, the Republican presidential candidate, and Secretary of Interior Work, new head of the G. O. P. National Committee.

Officials here today considered it probable that Hoover and Work would have considerable to say about these appointments and that the new cabinet officers would be maintained in the next administration should the Republicans triumph.

Walter F. Brown of Ohio, whose appointment as assistant secretary of commerce, was among the first definite moves by Hoover toward the nomination, is a possibility as head of the commerce department. Brown was chief of a presidential committee that reorganized government bureaus some years ago. It was understood that his appointment was made with the plan that he would be secretary.

Hoover today was making plans to get out of Washington for California as soon as possible. He expects to leave the capital between July 2 and 5 and take a rest until the notification speech the last of the month.

James W. Good of Iowa, the pre-convention manager, was expected here today for the first conference with his chief since the nomination. After the conference an announcement was expected as to whether Good will accept the post of western campaign manager with headquarters at Chicago.

London, June 23—A hold registered mail robbery upon the United States liner Leviathan, in which the loot is conservatively estimated at $500,000, was discovered today when the rifled mail bags reached here from Southampton.

Scotland Yard detectives believe that the crime was committed before the mail sacks were placed aboard the liner in New York. The American postal authorities were immediately notified.

WATER SYSTEM IS PLANNED AT $250,000 COST

Hocking Valley to Construct Three Wells, Tanks and Softening Plant

ERIE TO BUY WATER

Work Has Been Started and Will Be Completed by Sept. 1

Three large wells, a like number of storage tanks and a water softening system are to be constructed by the Hocking Valley Railroad near its tracks at Garden City-pk at a cost expected to reach nearly $250,000, it was learned here today.

Water from the new system will be used by locomotives on the Hocking Valley and Erie Railroad, the latter road discontinuing the use of water from the Marion Water Co. The present pumping station and softening beds of the Hocking will still be used.

Work of drilling the three wells has been started. These wells with use 20-inch casings and will have a capacity of more than 1,000,000 gallons of water a day. It is expected that the pumping system will be put into operation by Sept. 1.

Hocking Saves Expense

According to available information, all expense for the new plant is being borne by the Hocking Valley with the Erie purchasing its water supply from the former company.

An ordinance granting the Erie permission to build a water line from the Hocking Valley pumping plant to the roundhouse of the road was passed at a meeting of City Council last week.

The ordinance provided for the use of cast iron pipe not larger than 18 inches to extend through city property for a distance of 1,040 feet. The line will cross Garden City-pk at the first alley west of Lee-st and will traverse this alley south passing beneath Silver-st and then west to the roundhouse.

The Erie, according to reports, uses between six and seven million gallons of water a week. Cheaper supply for the two roads is believed to have led to the construction of the new plant.

Rumors have been current in Marion for some time that the Erie would discontinue the use of water from the Marion Water Co.

MAY MAKE COLUMBIA STOP STREET SOON

Chief Thompson Intimates Council May Take Action to Halt Accidents

That City Council may take action to eliminate, or at least reduce, the number of automobile accidents on Columbia-st by making the street a stop street at each intersection from Boulevard-st to High-st was intimated by Chief of Police Thompson today.

That something should be done is the common belief and since the purchase of traffic lights for each of the intersections is out of the question at the present time the establishment of a stop street appears to be the only solution according to officials.

Both Safety Director Strayer and Chief of Police Thompson have expressed themselves in favor of making Columbia-st a stop street at each intersection from Boulevard-st to High. This would include not only State, Main and Prospect, the three main arteries intersecting the street, but all of the less important streets.

In spite of the greater traffic, neither State nor Main-sts has witnessed any more accidents at the Columbia-st intersections, than has Blakeslee or Oak-sts. Prospect-st leads in the number of accidents, however, with four accidents or [illegible] minor accidents and [illegible] accidents and [illegible] at the Columbia-st intersection. BOBBY JONES HOLDING LEAD IN GOLF MEET

George Von Elm Trailing In Second Place With 222 Card

Olympia Fields, Ill., June 23—Bobby Jones continued in the lead for the National Open Golf championship, in the third round this morning by shooting a 35-38—73 for an aggregate of 217.

George Von Elm, former amateur champion, was second at this point with 222, having taken a 76 this morning.

Jones started the day, which was dark and overcast with the threat of rain, with two strokes lead over the field and three strokes advantage over Walter Hagen, his archrival. Hagen also began auspiciously, getting a birdie four on the first hole but George Von Elm lost four more strokes to Jones in going to the turn in 39.

Jones' pace was so fast that it carried his new partner Gene Sarazen, along to bigger and better things than he hadn't been scoring previously, but he also got a 3 this morning, exactly par for the layout.

CRITICISM OF COURT BY JUDGE PASSED

Supreme Tribunal Assumes Tolerant Attitude; Dayton Decision Reversed

Columbus, June 23—Assuming a broad and tolerant attitude toward the subject of free speech and criticism of public officials, members of the Ohio Supreme Court today indicated they would take no official cognizance of the statements of Common Pleas Judge Robert C. Patterson, Dayton, who late yesterday adversely criticized the Supreme Court because of its decision, announced this week, reversing the judgment of the Montgomery County courts which convicted Roy Freeman, colored, of murdering Policeman William Horn, of that city, and decreeing that Freeman should be electrocuted in Ohio Penitentiary.

Holding that the trial judge erred in its charge to the jury, the Supreme Court ordered the case remanded to the Common Pleas Court at Dayton "for a new trial or for further proceedings according to the law."

A diversity of opinion existed among members of the Supreme Court as to the correctness of Judge Patterson's accusations. Patterson was inclined to believe that the Supreme Court had not read the complete record in the Freeman case and asserted that the legal interpretation reached by a majority of the supreme court in deciding the case afforded a loophole to persons indicted for the murder of law officers in performance of their duty.

ANTI-SMITH FORCES BOLSTERED BY REED

Appearance of Candidate Signal for Series of Attacks on New Yorker

Houston, Tex., June 23—The collective backbone of the loosely drawn alliance, fighting the nomination of Gov. Al Smith, was strengthened considerably today with Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, on the battleground, taking personal command of his own race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The very appearance of Reed in Houston apparently was the signal for a series of attacks, direct and indirect, on the Smith candidacy. As a result, the Reed followers were chanting an optimistic song around the slogan: "Reed will win; win with Reed."

The "fighting Jim" of Missouri Democracy was given a spectacular welcome to the convention city. Hundreds met his train, more hundreds thronged the lobby of his headquarters hotel, where he held an impromptu reception and followers of a half dozen other candidates shook his hand and wished him well. The Senator spent this morning in his hotel suite, conferring with his lieutenants. He was to see newspapermen at 11 o'clock to discuss his own candidacy.

The Reed managers believe Smith is stopped. They believe Reed is the logical candidate and a certain victor with Smith eliminated. This is their campaign strategy and they expect it to be winning strategy about the fourth or fifth ballot when voting begins in the convention next week.

John W. Hinsdale

Candidate for County Commissioner (Long Term)

I wish to announce to my many Republican friends of Marion and Marion County that I am a candidate for County Commissioner. I believe myself qualified for that important office because of my past business experiences and my interests in both the County and City of Marion. I am in favor of improving the back roads, that the farmer living off of a state highway may have some benefit of the road tax he is compelled to pay. I am in favor of cutting down unnecessary expense, thus giving the people full value for every dollar of tax paid.

Your vote and influence at the primaries will be appreciated.

HAIL 71 MOTORISTS IN TRAFFIC COURT

Violations of City Ordinance Cited Despite New Parking Signs

Despite the brand new non-parking signs shining bravely forth with their bright yellow paint and given additional law respecting powers by their resemblance to a shield, motorists continue careless in their parking and thus far this month, 44 drivers, have appeared in Municipal Court for parking in a non-parking zone.

All in all, 71 motorists have been summoned into court since the first of the month for violation of the city traffic ordinance. Of this number two paid fines of $2 each, eight forfeited bonds of $2 each and one a bond of $4, and the remainder did not appear or were dismissed. The two who were fined by Municipal Judge W. R. Martin were fined for improper parking and for obstructing traffic.

Ten motorists were ordered in by police for parking their cars in such a manner as to obstruct traffic and nine for improper parking.

PASTOR ADDRESSES MT. GILEAD CLUB

Kiwanians Hear Talk on Problems of Present Day

Mt. Gilead, June 23—Choosing "Is Our Manhood Breaking Down" as his topic, Rev. J. C. Smith of the local M. E. Church, addressed the local Kiwanis Club in their weekly Thursday luncheon in the Moreen Room of the Globe Hotel. Rev. Stephan, of Galion, was scheduled to talk but was delayed in the Galion courts.

Speaking in relation to politics, Rev. Smith stated that it mattered not whom the parties nominated at their conventions or of what party the future president was a member, but the important thing was that he should be a "real man." Rev. Smith stated that the agriculture problem, the unemployment problem and financial situation was not as vital to the country as its manhood. He stated that no other one thing was so important as the manhood of the country.

"Are we failing to produce Abraham Lincolns, Websters or men like Longfellow?" challenged the speaker. In answer to his own question he stated: "It is the mad desire of this particular day and age after the almighty dollar." He blames this one thing for the bootleggers, bank robbers, etc. "It is a mad race between manhood and money, and money is winning," declared the speaker. He stated that this condition multiplied lawbreakers.

Upper Sandusky Youth Solves Theft of Flags

UPPER SANDUSKY, June 25—One of the strangest robbery crimes in the history of Upper Sandusky, the theft of American flags from a cemetery, has been solved by an Upper Sandusky lad, Nathan Frederick.

On Memorial Day more than 100 flags were placed upon the graves of those who answered taps. Later the staffs were found unbroken but the flags were torn from them, and small portions of cloth were still clinging to the nails. Day after day more flags disappeared and not a sign of foot print or an intruder could be found.

It was at first believed the stealing was the prank of boys who wanted the flags to decorate their hut or cave.

The first, and last clue was found by Nathan Frederick when he came upon a torn flag at the foot of a tree. Looking upward he found a large nest and over one side extended a vestage of red and white. He scaled the tree and found the nest lined with more than three dozen American flags.

At first the nest was believed to be one of an American eagle who had equipped his home with the national colors.

The watchers were disappointed when a large crow settled upon the nest.

BUCYRUS HIKER IS SAFE AT HOUSTON

1,500 Miles in Five Days Is Record of Tom Johnson

Bucyrus, June 23—Tom Johnson, 18-year-old hiker, of this city, has arrived in Houston where he will serve as page at the Democratic convention.

Fifteen hundred miles in five days this young man traveled, an average of 300 miles a day.

He drove through water up to the hubs in the Missouri flood belt Monday. He missed the tornado that tore through Oklahoma, Kansas and Arkansas by about 30 miles.

He will be rewarded for his hegira with a page's badge and credentials by W. A. Julian, national committeeman from Ohio, and Miss Marie E. McCurry, state Democratic secretary.

The young man pounded on the door of Miss McCurry's hotel room this morning at 8 o'clock. She opened an eye and peered out from behind the door.

"Hello," said the youth, cheerily. "I'm Tom Johnson."

"You're not," said the lady sleepily. "He died in 1910. Now be a good boy and go down with the rest of the bell hops."

"But I am Tom Johnson from Bucyrus, O., and I've just bummed my way down," he insisted.

Miss McCurry hesitated no longer, for Bucyrus is in Crawford County, where they're all Democrats. She promised him a convention ticket if he'd wait until after breakfast.

"Most of the guys who picked me up were salesmen," he said, "though a couple were tourists. Believe me, the sign on the bag helped. Longest single ride I got was 188 miles.

"I'm glad I bummed along now, for I wanted to save the money. Think maybe I can get into West Point. My congressman, Brooks Fletcher, is working on it. I just graduated from Bucyrus High this year."

SUMMER TIME!

Tourists Begin Summer Rambles in Nice New Cars

Mt. Gilead, June 23—Tourists here already begun their summer rambles judging from the number of tourists that pass through the official A. A. A. quarters.

Although they are not as numerous as they will be in the later weeks, a large number of them are starting early. A large percentage of them show out of state licenses. Tours taking in two, three, or perhaps more states seem to have gained much popularity.

The majority of the tourists, though judging by their automobiles are of considerable means, would rather "rough it" and take a tent than patronize hotels when the weather permits the use of a tent.

The car driven by the average tourists is seldom an old car that is ready for the junk heap. The majority of them are good automobiles and will give very little if any trouble en route.

Few calls are made on the A. A. A. service here with the exception of the all-night service. This is patronized very frequently during the night.

CONCLUDES WORK

Galion Club Members Entertain at Guest Day Party

Galion, June 23—The closing affair of an eventful year's work for the Arts and Crafts Club was held yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Calvin Kinsely was hostess at a delightful garden party at her home, W. Church-st. A large number of members, each accompanied by a guest, were present to enjoy one of the most picturesque affairs ever given by the club.

Mrs. R. C. Bratten, president of the group for the past year, gave the introductory address and briefly reviewed the year's accomplishments. Following the opening address, four children of the North School Primary Department danced a stately minuet attired in colonial costumes. Several solo dances followed and Wayne Weber favored with a group of readings.

The principal speaker of the occasion was Mrs. Grace McKinnon, of Cleveland, who exhibited some beautiful Batik dresses and scarfs, and explained the process used in making them.

At the close of the program Mrs. R. C. Bratten presented the gavel to Mrs. T. F. Harrington, the newly elected president, who responded with an interesting outline of the work planned for the ensuing season.

Refreshments were served in the garden following the program and pastel notes were used as color scheme. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. James Green, Mrs. T. F. Harrington and Mrs. J. H. Ulmer.

NAME LOGAN MAN ON TEACHING STAFF

Floyd W. Stone Will Serve as Physical Director at Kenton

Kenton, June 24—Floyd W. Stone, 24, of Logan, has been hired by the Kenton Board of Education to serve as director of physical education here succeeding George W. Burkett who resigned after three years to accept a similar position in the Tiffin schools.

In addition to his physical training work he will coach athletics in the Kenton High School and conduct part time class room work.

During the summer months, Stone is completing work at Harvard University for his master's degree in physical education, and is serving as an assistant instructor in the department.

Last season the athletic department of the Nelsonville schools was under the directions of Mr. Stone and its representative football and basketball teams established an enviable record. Only one defeat was suffered by his gridders while his court team played into the semi-finals of the state basketball tournament.

Mr. Stone will assume his new duties here at the opening of the school term. There is a possibility that he will come to Kenton before the term opens that he might get his football team lined-up for preliminary practices before the opening game scheduled to be played a brief time after school opens.

Preceeding his acceptance of the Nelsonville position, Stone graduated from Ohio University, Athens, with the class of 1927. He is married.

COUNTY DELEGATES TO ATTEND MEET

Legality of Election of Republican Representatives Up to Committee

Bucyrus, June 23—Crawford county will not have a voice in the deliberations of the state Republican convention next week unless the credentials committee chooses to seat the county's six delegates even though they were not legally elected at the April primary.

At the April primary there were no candidates for delegate or alternate to the convention written on the ballot. Seven names with each ranging from 4 to 12 votes were turned in at the polls. To be legally elected a delegate must have 8 per cent of the total vote cast and that would have meant a fraction over 61 votes.

Although the legality of their election is questioned the six receiving the highest votes are planning to attend. They are J. R. Hopley, R. O. Perrott, P. R. Holmes, Edward Vollrath, H. E. Cook and C. F. Monroe and Mrs. R. V. Sears. Each of the six received four votes.

ATTENDS MEET

ANNOUNCE SCHEDULE FOR SCHOOL TEAM

Marysville Cridders to Meet Fast Teams Next Season

Marysville, June 23—With but four letter men left as a foundation for the 1928 football machine, Marysville High School is facing one of the stiffest schedules in the history of the school. Very little difficulty was encountered in arranging a schedule this year and the teams who have signed represent almost every county in Central Ohio.

From last year's regulars, Edwards, Kleiber, Scheiderer, Brown, Mader, Edge, Markus, Smith, Rausch, were taken by graduation. These men compose the stiff defense featured by Marysville in all of its games last year, and which resulted in a number of opponents being scoreless at the end of games.

The 1928 schedule as announced by Coach Gerald L. Kingsmore is as follows: Sept. 21—Delaware, here; Sept. 28—Kenton, here; Oct. 6—Galion at Galion; Oct. 12—Urbana, here; October 19—Mt. Sterling at Mt. Sterling; Oct. 26—Bellefontaine; Nov. 1, open; Nov. 9, Dayton Oakwood, at Oakwood; Nov. 10, Wapakoneta at Wapakoneta; Nov. 23, London, here.

Marysville's 1927 football team established a new record in the history of the school, going through the entire season without tasting a defeat. Their final and most lauded victory was over the strong Fostoria team.

ASSERTS DEMOCRATIC WOMEN OPPOSE AL

Mrs. Dupuy Declares They Will Vote for Hoover If Smith Is Nominee

Houston, Tex., June 23—An army of Democratic women will canvass the wives and mothers of the nation to vote for Herbert Hoover if Al Smith is nominated by the Democratic convention, Mrs. Ada Orme Dupuy announced today.

She is one of the leaders of the Women's National Democratic Law Enforcement League which is seeking a bone dry platform. She will nominate Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson of Maryland, head of the league, for the vice presidency.

"We represent 300,000 Democratic women who are opposed unalterably to all wet candidates," said Mrs. Dupuy. "I understand the Smith forces, will approve a platform which calls for enforcement of all laws, including the Eighteenth Amendment. But that is insufficient. A wet could not run on such a platform without being accused of duplicity. It would wreck the party."

Mrs. Dupuy believes the drys will be able to block Smith.

If Smith is nominated, she added, "We will vote for Hoover."

"We will organize 'Hoover Apron Clubs'," she said. "Remember, during the war when Hoover was food administrator all housewives wore Hoover aprons.

"We haven't much money, but we have the spirit and determination not to allow a wet to enter the White House."

MILLIONAIRES

Three to Acre Not Too Many, Realtor Declares

Chicago, June 23—It is the contention of Van Wegenen Alling that three millionaires to the acre is not too many in certain sections of aristocratic Lake Forest.

There are those in the suburb, however, who oppose this view, saying that two millionaires to every 20,000 square feet are as many as any fair-minded person could wish. Mr Alling, having some property for subdivision, is endeavoring to break through this opposition.

Mr. Alling made a speech on the subject before the village council Wednesday night. The speech, he explained, was the same one he rewrote 17 times for presentation to the zoning board. The 18th draft being read to the council, was promptly tabled. This, as Mr. Alling optimistically viewed it, will give him a chance to go over it again, to have the 19th draft ready for the meeting of the zoning board next Monday night.

B. F. Affleck, president of the Union League club of Chicago, has been Alling's chief opponent. Mr. Affleck has his home across from the Alling property. He moved to Lake Forest, he explained, to get away from the crowds, and he trusts that the council will not permit the cluttering of the landscape in his vicinity with too many country estates.

BURNHAM DIES

Senior Vice President of Railway Well Known Executive

Chicago, June 23—Claude G. Burnham, senior vice president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, and one of the best known railroad men in the country, died late yesterday at his home in Kenilworth, a suburb.

Burnham was 47 years old and had been in railroad work since he was 17. When appointed to the vice presidency 15 years ago he was said to be the youngest man in the country holding that office.

HIT BY TRAIN

Martel, June 23—The Ford coupe owned by Jay Winters was slightly damaged Wednesday evening when it was hit by a freight train at the main crossing in Martel. Winters escaped without injury.

CONSTRUCTION COSTS NOT CHANGED IN MAY

Continue to Retain Stability They Have Possessed Since First of Year

Washington, June 23—Construction costs continue to retain the stability they have possessed since the opening of this year. No change in the average of these costs was indicated during May.

A single level has been held since March, with only one change being noted since November. This condition stands contrasted against the records for corresponding periods during the majority of recent years.

Comparative figures, showing the number of fluctuations during the first five months of each year since 1920, follow: 1921, four; 1922, four; 1923, four; 1924, three; 1925, one; 1926, four 1927, three.

The average of construction costs for the first five months of the current year is slightly below the average for the corresponding period of 1927, when a mark exactly twice as high as that registered for the year 1913 was recorded.

The average of wages paid in the principal construction centers of the country has remained unchanged since December, a scale which places the 1913 average of wages at 100 as its base, shows the index figure for each month of the present year to be 238.

The prices of basic construction materials now are showing much less inclination to rise or fall than in preceding years. Only one change in the average of these prices has occurred since January.

JONES LEADING FIELD IN NATIONAL OPEN TOURNEY

FINAL MATCHES OF MEET BEING HELD AT OLYMPIA TODAY

Field Reduced to 65 Starts for Last 36 Holes in Golf Battle

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

Olympia Fields, Ill., June 23—With the inevitable Robert T. Jones leading the way by two strokes, the National Open Golf Championship was to go into the final stages this morning.

The field was reduced to 65 starts for today's two final rounds of 18 holes each.

As only Bill Leach, Philadelphia, and George Von Elm, Los Angeles, tied at 146, and Walter Hagen, Henry Cinci, the young Stratford, Conn., pro, and Willie McFarlane, grouped at 147, had better than an outside chance at the title.

Frank Walsh, Densmore Shute and Al Espinosa seemed too far back at 148 and, besides they would have no business beating Jones, anyhow. That applied naturally to the rest of them this morning if, in fact, it didn't apply always and from the first.

Rearrangement of the pairs this morning coupled Jones with Gene Sarazen; Von Elm with Joe Turnesa, MacFarlane with Harrison Johnston, Cinci with Jack Forrester, Hagen with Jack Burke, Leach with Johnny Jones, Shute with Willie Klein and Walsh with Horton Smith.

Jones' starting times were 9:15 and 1:15; Von Elm's 9:00 and 1:00 and Hagen's 9:50 and 1:50.

MORE FOOTBALL?

Jim Thorpe, Indian Athlete, Wants To Coach This Fall

SPRINGFIELD, June 23—Jim Thorpe, of Carlisle football fame, and regarded by many sports followers as the greatest American Indian athlete, may go back to football this fall. In a letter to Coach Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, now demonstrating his winning plays at the second annual coaching school at Wittenberg College, here, June 18-30, Thorpe indicates that he wants to coach football, beginning in September. Warner, who taught Thorpe the grid game, expects a reunion with his old pupil here within a few days. Thorpe lives in Marion, O.

RACE MEETINGS ARE SLATED FOR TOLEDO

Trotting Feature With Purse of $5,000 to Open Grand Circuit Season

Toledo, June 23—One of the biggest harness race meetings of 1928 is scheduled at Toledo starting June 25 and continuing through June 30. The American Horse Breeder Futurity for three-year old trotters, carrying a purse of $5,000 is to feature the so called "Curtain raiser" of the Grand Circuit season.

In the second meeting here later in the summer, the Hotel Secor trot, purse $12,500; the matron stake for three-year-old trotters, purse $10,000; the Page Dairy pace, purse $25,000, and the Hotel Commodore Perry trot, purse $7,500 are the scheduled features.

The features of the Cleveland meeting at the North Randall track, which follows the first Toledo meet, are the Ohio trot, purse $3,000; Tavern trot, purse $3,000 and the Edwards pace, purse $3,000.

At the second meeting, to be held August 15, the Rainy Day sweepstakes, with purse of $6,000 and the Home Brew stake of $4,000 will be the chief offerings.

The Rainy Day stake has an entry list of trotters from nearly every part of the United States according to A. C. Pennock, general manager of the North Randall track. Such well known owners as H. K. Devereaux Cleveland; Calumet Farm, James Snell and Ben F. White, Lexington, Ky., Fox Stock Farm, and Lou McDonald, Indianapolis; Hanover Shoe Farm, Hanover, Pa.; Walter T. Candler, Atlanta, Ga., David M. Look, New York City and Good Time stable, Goshen, New York, are represented with entries.

Kenney Direct, 2:02¾, famous Canadian pacer, being prepped by Rape Parker, is reported in excellent condition. He recently worked a mile in 2:08¼ with little effort, it was said.

Airsilk, unbeaten two-year-old pacer of 1927, also is making a favorable impression, it was learned. He made the last half of a mile workout in the fast time of 1:02½. At the end of another mile he paced the last quarter in 29½.

TILDEN WINS

London, June 23—William "Big Bill" Tilden, of the United States, beat Francis T. Hunter, also an American, by 6-3, 6-2, 6-1, in the singles finals of the London Tennis Championships at Queen's Club this afternoon.

THREE "KID" STARS INSPIRE VETERANS OF ST. LOUIS SQUAD

Browns May Smash the Domination of New York Yankees, Belief

New York, June 23—Ralph Kress, Otis Brannon and Larry Bettencourt, the three kid infielders of the St. Louis Browns, comprise the most interesting combination developed in the big leagues this year. Their playing has inspired the other members of the team and it may be that the young and hustling Brownies, rather than the aging Athletics, will be the club that eventually will smash the domination of the New York Yankees in the American League.

Kress and Brannon, transplanted from Tulsa, have made the grade as a keystone combination. Kress led the league in batting for several weeks, but now Brannon has taken the play away from his buddy by his home run hitting. Bettencourt, the Californian who was an all-American football selection last year, is fielding well and yesterday hit his second home runs in as many days.

The Browns walloped Detroit yesterday, 8 to 3, but were outslugged in the nightcap, 12 to 6. Brannon smacked his ninth homer of the season.

Bob Burke of Washington won an brilliant 1 to 0 duel from Charley Ruffing of the Red Sox, and the Nats climbed back into the first division. The Cleveland Indians, who took a 7 to 4 beating from the White Sox, dropped into fifth place.

Wee Willie Sherdel pitched the Cardinals to a 4 to 1 win over the Cubs in six innings. Jim Bottomley hit his sixteenth homer in the seventh frame but it was washed out of the records by a rainstorm.

The Cards are now 4½ games ahead of the Reds, who were swamped by the Pirates, 11 to 1. The Reds couldn't touch Burleigh Grimes, who chalked up his tenth victory of the season.

Other teams did not play.

YALE CREW VICTOR; MAY REPRESENT U. S.

Old Eli Overwhelms Harvard Oarsmen in Annual Thames Regatta

New London, Conn., June 23—Yale, by virtue of its overwhelming victory over Harvard in their annual regatta on the Thames last night, stands forth today with every likelihood of being America's representative in the Olympic rowing championship races at Amsterdam next month.

Not in many years has there been welded together a crew combining such tremendous power and speed with almost perfect oarsmanship, as Yale exhibited in what was promised as an even battle with its most ancient rival, but which almost from the very beginning degenerated into a procession, with the blue toying with a huge but helpless Harvard crew.

For Yale, the day was one of absolute and complete triumph, for the Eli freshman and junior varsity eights won handily in the morning races. It was the first time in the six years in which Ed Leader product of the Washington shimberlands, has been coaching the Blue, that it has swept to a complete triumph in all three races. In race after race, the margin of difference increased almost in geometric progression—two lengths and a half in the freshman race, five and a half lengths in the junior varsity event and a good full 10 lengths in the varsity.

The Yale varsity covered the four-mile course in 20:21 3-5. The wind swept almost directly across the course at some points.

Marion Steam Shovel in Second Place After Win Over Isaly; Kappas Lose and Star Defeats Baptists, 9 to 4

Although still maintaining their undefeated position at the head of the Commercial Recreation Ball League, the Marion Eagles today found the head of the standings not so secure following a contest last night.

Featuring five games in the league, was the battle put up by the Kiwanis when the Eagle crew was held to one lone run and the game. This tally was scored in the last of the seventh inning just in time to prevent the game from running into an overtime session.

Kiwanis Strengthened

The Kiwanis aggregation, although down at the bottom of the standings, is expected to make a steady rise towards the top probably finishing well up in the first division. The ten has been strengthened by the additions of players from the Silk Mills through permission granted by members of the Recreation Ball Commission.

A two way tie for second place was simmered down to the place where the Shovel A. A. nine is the lone occupant of the position. The Shovels defeated the Isaly team, 4 to 1.

Three Are Third

Three teams are now tied for third place following victories by the two Erie representatives. The K. of P. nine dropped from second place when defeated by the Erie Yardmen while the Clerks were getting the best of a game with the Kappas. The Yardmen won 3 to 2 while the Clerks held the big end of a 4 to 2 score.

The Marion Stars broke back in the win column again by taking advantage of the Baptists. In spite of the much talked of pitching of Bartch, the Stars won, 9 to 4.

BARKER BROS. NINE WILL PLAY AGAINST LOCALS ON SUNDAY

Rizor May Be Seen in Marion Uniform at Short or First

Rizor, who for the past two seasons has been a regular on the Marion baseball team, may wear a uniform of the Eagles Sunday afternoon at Lincoln Park when the local nine meets the fast Barker Bros. Semi-Pro club of Akron.

So far this season Rizor has been playing at Lima but has been induced to appear for a tryout with the local outfit by Manager Francis Bacon. He is a shortstop but may be converted into first baseman, according to Bacon.

Three college players whose homes are in Bucyrus may report Sunday to tryout for a berth on the Eagles. These men will be awarded positions if they show any stuff at all, Bacon said.

Wysong To Pitch

Wysong will be back on the mound again Sunday. He made a good showing in his first contest here when he held the Homestead Grays to six runs. Longshore will be held in reserve. No changes in the batting order of the team were announced.

Boasting a big league pitcher who has been winning at his games this season, the Barker Bros. nine comes to Marion ballyhooed as the best team in Akron, not excepting the General Tires and Goodyear outfits.

Turk will be seen on the mound with an all-star field of players backing him up. Stogie Stauffer is known as the best shortstop in Akron. Beckwith will be at third this year. Next season he will join his brother at Erie. Kellogg, crack first baseman of the outfit, is slated to enter the big leagues when the present season closes.

The team promises to give the Eagles their hardest battle of the season and arrangements are being made to take care of a crowd that is expected to be even greater than that of last Sunday.

Preliminary Contest

A preliminary game between the Kappas and Butler Clothiers will be played at 1:30 o'clock. The main fray is called for 3 o'clock.

Starting lineups follow:

TENNIS CHAMP

Ted Cunningham Wins Interstate Y. M. C. A. Court Title

TED CUNNINGHAM, Marion student at Bluffton College, has returned to his home here bearing the interstate Y. M. C. A. tennis trophy won at Lake Geneva last week. He was a delegate to the contention from Bluffton College.

In addition to winning the interstate title, Cunningham also won the state singles crown and played shortstop on the Ohio championship baseball team. Entries from 12 states participated in the tourney.

In the state meet, the local star defeated Bakeman, captain of the Denison tennis squad, 6-3 and 6-4. He won the interstate cup from Holtzworth of the University of South Dakota, 6-4, 8-6, and 7-5. In the final game of this match, Cunningham trailed 0-5 before winning his first game. He took seven straight games to win the tourney.

OHIO GOLFERS WILL FACE ROUGH COURSE

Ohio Amateur Tournament Entrants Will Play on Slanting Fairways

Youngstown, June 23—Ohio golfers entering the Ohio amateur tournament to be held at the Youngstown Country Club here next week will be faced by a tough, sporty course, according to golfers who have played here.

Characteristics of the course are tipped and slanting fairways, buckled and dipped. Slopes are met both going and coming and slanting to the right and left. The player must hit straight or get into the rough from every tee.

The fairways have fine turf and the greens have fine putting surfaces, which will go far toward pleasing the entrants.

Yardage 6,575

The yardage of the course is 6,575 and the par for the twenty-fifth Ohio amateur tourney will be 72. The longest hole is No. 8, 595 yards from the tee. The short holes are all declared unusual. No. 6 is 245 yards long, but it is said about every golfer in ten will make the green in few strokes. The 170-yard No. 7 is a carry over a stiff rough.

The par three for No. 15 is 190 yards, with a peculiarly shaped green which makes putting difficult. The 140-yard eighteenth is a tough one with a water hazard.

The course was laid out sixteen years ago by Donald Ross, well known golf architect.

A special prize will be awarded to the contestant who scores a par at any time during the tournament according to R. M. Bell, the tournament secretary.

CRYSTAL LAKE PARK WILL BE SCENE OF OUTDOOR FIGHT CARD

Ray Ganshaw, Newark, Substituted for Aukings Against Kelley

THE CARD

Main Go—Martin Mazzio, Cleveland, vs. Lou Janita, Columbus, eight rounds at 126 pounds.

Semi Final—Ray Snyder, Marion, vs. Al. Hines, Columbus, eight rounds at 145 pounds.

Preliminary — Ray Ganshaw, Newark, vs. Mike Kelley, Cleveland, six rounds at 135 pounds.

Preliminary — Harold Williams, Marion, vs. Kid Simpkins, Mt. Vernon, six rounds at 128 pounds.

But one change has been made in the program for the Marion Eagles outdoor boxing card to be staged at Crystal Lake Park on Monday night.

Owing to a broken jaw sustained in a fight, Wildcat Aukings will not be seen in the six round preliminary with Mike Kelley of Cleveland. Aukings place is being taken by Ray Ganshaw of Newark. Ganshaw is rated as a boy equally as clever as Aukings and should give the Clevelander a run for his money.

Snyder in Limelight

Ray Snyder, Marion dealer in cauliflower ears, will take the limelight in the eight-round semi-final bout with Al Hines of Columbus. Hines is well known in Marion as many local fans have seen him in action at the Capital City. These fighters are scheduled to enter the ring at 145 pounds.

The feature battle of the card is the main go attraction of eight rounds between Martin Mazzio of Cleveland and Lou Janita of Columbus. Last night Janita fought Rocky Dolan of Dayton to a draw on a Columbus card.

Mazzio was at one time amateur bantam champion of the state and since his entry in the professional circle he has been registering knockouts regularly.

Harold Williams, another Marion boy, will appear against Kid Simpkins of Mt. Vernon. This battle will open the card at 8:15 o'clock as a six-round preliminary.

Heavy Selling of Industrials and Motors Marks Session

LEADERS DROP FROM TWO TO FIVE POINTS

Western Traders Forced to Liquidate Holdings by Crash

CONDITIONS SPOTTY

Offerings of Steel, Copper and Specialty Stocks Great

Markets at a Glance

Industrial stocks reactionary, railroad stocks steady, foreign bonds fairly steady, domestic bonds fairly steady, cotton strong, grain steady, oil firm, pig iron firm, sugar irregular, rubber steady; foreign exchange irregular.

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

New York, June 23—Heavy selling of the industrial stocks and the motors broke out at the beginning of the market session of the market today, carrying prices of the many market leaders down two to five points below the level of the previous close. A good part of the selling was attributed to western traders, who were forced by a new crash in Bancitaly Corporation to liquidate their holdings of other stock. Bancitaly declined 11 points to 100 in the curb market in the first period as the result of this "distress selling" by outsiders.

Trade conditions at the week-end were spotty with an unusually bad June weather record and a mixture of good and bad reports from the crop and agricultural districts. Excess of rainfall has delayed the ripening of fruit, and backwardness of a portion of the wheat belt is due to the same influence. The week-end commodity markets were irregular and featureless, with cotton up about 25 points and grain off fractionally.

Heavy offerings of the steel, copper, motor and specialty stocks at the opening of the market suggested that the cleaning out of weak speculative structures had not been completed.

Nearly $300,000,000 reduction in brokers' loans has been forced in the last two weeks, but nearly as much more will be required, according to financial experts.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, June 23—For most of the session yesterday the grain markets gave a display of four-flushing that would have done credit to many a successful nonproducing jobholder. They closed irregularly with wheat and rye distinctly low.

Wheat was off ⅝@⅝c at the finish, corn was ⅛@⅜c higher; oats were ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher; rye was down 1¼@1½c.

At the end wheat and corn looked weak enough to be prescribed the oxygen treatment.

They may recuperate today, of course, but that seems very doubtful in light of the fact that this is Saturday. Only a brave bull, in all probability, will want to carry wheat and corn over the Sunday holiday into next week.

The susceptibility in the wheat and corn markets to selling that may develop today appears to lie in the recent pit buying on reported export business. As suggested here yesterday, shrewd longs who bought wheat early in the week a couple of cents under the closing price of yesterday were probably looking for a market strong enough to let them get out. They did not get it.

On this analysis the market appears to be overbought, with the pit long and shorts driven in.

The picture presented by the wheat situation is so extremely bearish that the chance of getting any outside buying at present seems slim. We have one of the biggest visible supplies—if not the biggest—in a quarter of a century. The prospects in Kansas are for harvesting 175,000,000 bu. of Winter wheat, with the possibility of a record yield.

In Canada the outlook for the Spring wheat crop is ideal. The acreage is larger than usual and good judges of the prospect are estimating a crop possibly of between 300 and 400 million bushels.

"Outsiders" Remain Outside

What is there in all this to make any one buy wheat? Nothing that I can see. Unless the market itself turns strong and advances sharply, outsiders are apt to leave buying orders unwritten.

Liverpool may offer a lower cable today. If there is any strength in our opening the market may meet with selling immediately.

Corn struggled hard up to the end of the session to climb into higher ground where it could find a foothold. It kept slipping, however, and toward the end of the session slid back to just about where it left off on the day before.

The cash situation in corn is strong, and may get very much stronger before the summer is over. That, however, does not necessarily mean that the future market can dash upward at this time.

Longs Still in Corn

Corn was bulled on persistently earlier in the season at present prices and much higher ones, the conclusion is forced that there must be heavy long holdings in the nearby futures at prices a good deal above the existing level.

That, probably, is what makes the market get so heavy on all small rallies. Some of those longs try to get out and there is nothing but short covering to take their offerings.

Corn acts as if it had been bulled to death and can not make much headway against the optimistic sentiment concerning the new crop until longs have been cleaned out of it and bears have overcrowded the selling side.

Rye was weak yesterday. This grain is the one that is really in a bullish situation on crop news, but it may drag lower before it gets in accordance with the underlying situation. One thing seems obvious—if rye won't advance there is little reason to expect wheat and corn to do so.

In the cash market wheat was unchanged, corn was unchanged to ½c up, oats were firm, rye was quiet, barley was firm.

MACHINERY ADDING SPEED TO RAILROADS

More Uniform Results Also Being Realized by Officials of Roads

Added speed and more uniform results obtained by the use of machinery is being realized by the railroads, one of the biggest industries of the country, reports reveal.

Taking one of the roads passing through Marion as an example, it can be easily seen that much man power is being done away with as the latest in mechanical equipment is installed.

Automatic tamping devices are being used where no ballast is being placed. William Michel, chief engineer of the Hocking Valley Railroad, says that through the use of these tampers the road is getting a more uniformly and thoroughly tamped track. To some extent, he says, the personal factor of difference in tampers under the old hand method is eliminated. Not all hand tamping, however, is done away with.

The northbound, or heavy tonnage track running through Marion, is given the preference in the program of machine tamping of the Hocking Valley. Approximately 80 per cent of the tonnage handled by the road passes through Marion between Columbus and Toledo.

Rail of the Hocking Valley is handled by mechanical means. This practice has been of long standing and three steam derricks, converted from old steam shovels, are used for this purpose. During very busy rail seasons, these are supplemented by a Marion steam ditcher equipped with a boom for handling a clam shell bucket.

Conducting Tests

Tests are being conducted on the Hocking Valley Railroad on a plan to increase the capacity of the Santa Fe type locomotives, it was announced here tday. The test is being made on engine No. 140.

By using larger valves the engines will haul from 125 to 150 cars of freight at one time. Fifteen engines of this type are used by the road.

Warren, O., June 25—Russell Siegel, 35, is alleged to have admitted to Prosecutor Linn B. Griffith here that he shot and fatally wounded Max Iddings, 27, a roomer in the Siegel's home on the Youngstown-Hubbard-rd near here yesterday because Iddings had caused considerable family trouble.

Siegel, father of five children, aged two to 12 years, found Iddings with his wife when Siegel came home after a visit to his parents at Austinwood, according to his alleged confession. Officials at Columbus Headquarters Are Gratified at Success

SPEEDS SERVICE

Quality of Plumbing Fixtures Responsible for Forward Step Here

The Dreher Supply Co., 184 N. Main-st, has had a most rapid growth in business in the Marion territory within the last year.

The officials at the main office, which is located in Columbus, saw the great need of establishing a Marion branch of their wholesale plumbing business. They knew that Marion people and Marion County residents had previously had to wait great lengths of time for plumbing parts or fixtures, which loss of time would be eliminated if the Dreher Supply had a branch office and warehouse in Marion.

The Dreher office and large warehouse containing nearly $100,000 worth of plumbing supplies is now located here. One may now visit the warehouse at 184 N. Main-st, and select the plumbing supplies one needs; and they will be delivered to you without delay.

Same Advantages

With this display Marion and vicinity have the same advantages as cities many times larger when it comes to buying plumbing supplies. The bathroom and kitchen are fast becoming important rooms in the house and rightly, for they render the most service. Because of this tendency more thought is being given to plumbing and heating.

A great deal of the success of the Dreher company has been due to the quality of the plumbing fixtures that they feature; namely the Kohler of Kohler plumbing supplies which are world famous for their high standards of quality and beauty. To a great and growing public, in America and abroad, Kohler of Kohler stands for the highest commercial attainment in one of the oldest arts known to man, the application of enamel to a metal surface exemplified in the manufacture of enameled iron plumbing fixtures of high quality.

Found To Have Value

In some dim age of antiquity it was discovered that the beauty of the precious metals could be enhanced by the use of enamel and the practice thus suggested continues today. Meanwhile the uses of the metals, and particularly of iron had become better known. Not for ornament alone, nor for warlike purposes, but for a thousand peaceful ends, they had been found suited; vessels of iron, easily shaped, yet strong and lasting, marked one of the forward strides of civilization.

The day came when, like the metals, enamel was discovered to have a value other than for mere ornament. Its smooth, hard, clean surface, its imperviousness, its durability suggested numerous uses, particularly for sanitary purposes.

The most notable progress in the commercial development of enamel has been made within comparatively recent times, and much of this progress is practically the history of Kohler of Kohler. The bath tub, lavatory and sink are necessary furnishings in every modern home. For these, white enameled iron has established itself as the most popular and satisfactory material, the material best adapted to successful manufacture.

How to Find Name

The widespread preference for enameled iron fixtures is due largely to a Kohler achievement—the discovery of means of making every fixture white rather than near white, and the smooth, white blanket of Kohler enamel with its enduring luster is easy to keep clean.

One's desire for Kohler fixtures may be disappointed unless one has the means of identifying them. The label pasted on them may be removed. The name is cast on the bottom of each, but one cannot conveniently turn a heavy bathtub over to see the name. So during the process of enameling, the name Kohler is incorporated in the enamel itself, in dainty blue letters, inconspicuous, unnoticed unless you are looking for it—but mighty important, just the same; a symbol of pride, a mark of responsibility, an assurance of worth. No other brand of enameled ware is thus identified; the mark is a sure means of knowing a Kohler fixture.

Rigid Inspection

The Kohler trademark indicates that the article on which it appears is of the uniform Kohler standard. To maintain this standard every fixture is subjected to a rigid inspection at each step in its manufacture, from the casting to the finished piece. The inspectors are under a chief inspector and independent of the foremen and superintendents. They thus exercise an independent judgment, instantly rejecting any work that is not up to the Kohler standard.

The quality of materials, the perfected technique, advanced processes, and high skill that characterize the manufacture of Kohler Ware; the unequaled quality of the Kohler enamel; and finally, the permanently visible trade mark in the enamel, an exclusively Kohler feature—these leave little room for hesitation as to the kind of fixtures you should choose.

And Kohler Ware costs no more to install than inferior fixtures.

Keep Tongue Guarded

Al Smith Past Master at Repartee, Will Rogers Opines, in Tip to Senator Moses on Convention Show

By WILL ROGERS

WELL, all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I see as I prowl over the old Commonwealth. Here we are down here in Houston all getting set for another Dog Fight. I think we are going to have a lot of fun down here. There is always excitement at a Democratic anything. Of course it dont look like there is any way to keep from nominating Al but that don't make any difference, there is always something that will stir up an argument even if they all agree.

And talking about Smith reminds me of an incident that happened at the Kansas City show. Senator Moses was the Chairman or Ringmaster of the outfit, and of course no one at any of those things can take office without making the customary speech. Well here is part of what he said, "We enter this coming battle militant. We intend to carry the fight to the enemy, and we challenge them to bring forth their strongest champion, whether he emerge from another 103-round battle of the Madison Square Beer Garden, or from a convention held spell bound by the Tammany Tiger. We are ready for him, bring him on and we will bury him. We will welcome him with hospitable hands to a bloody grave, and we care not whether his name be Brown, Jones, or Smith."

Not Ordinary

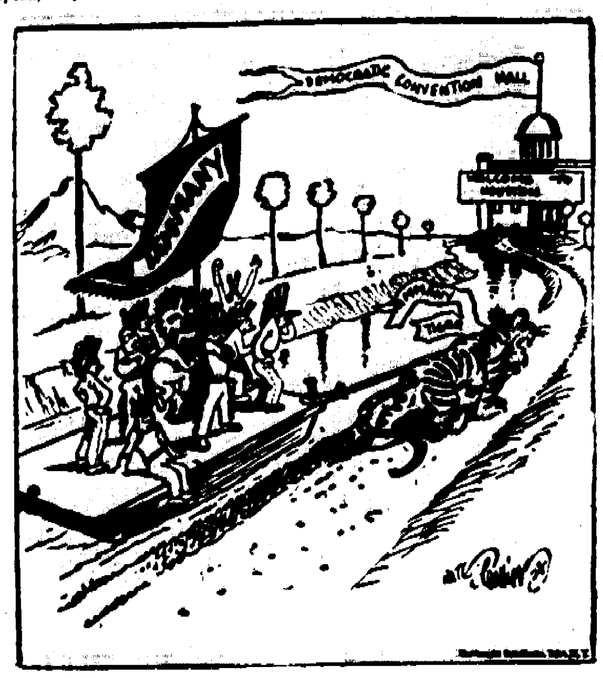
Now them is strong words Moses, even for a Prophet to utter. Now its allright to use them on the ordinary run of Politicians. It sounds great, and the gallery eat it up. But when you are messing with Al Smith, why you are not dealing with the ordinary Politician, you are going up against a man that can take the English language and throw it back to you wrapped up as ridicule, and Moses he will have you taking to the Mount. He will make you wish you had smitten those words on a rock, and not uttered them in national convention. This Baby Smith is a past master of repartee. You been dealing with some of those slow thinking Senators around there, and you are liable to get a little cocky for you hand out some mean ridicule yourself. But brother, this Smith party is in the Big League when it comes to sitting the enemy down with a single paragraph. So I am just tipping you off. Lay off this Guy, you may defeat him at the polls this autumn, but the more dignified you handle your end of it the better. If it ever comes to a battle of words he will have all the Delegates, so you better keep the election on votes and not on Slogans. There is men that can speak better English than Smith, but there is not any that can make it sound any better.

Ahead of His Time

By the way however Moses made a mighty good officer. He gave us an example of the Republican methods. The minority was drowned out by the gravel.

The best speeches made there were by young Bob LaFolette and Senator Borah. The others could have sent 'em in by mail. But say, this young LaFolette has a great deal of the old man in him. He has that kind of little sympathetic touch in his voice. Like a sincere appeal, and looks like a real promising young fellow. He looks like he has a great career ahead of him. He too had he is so many ahead of his time but he is. It will take about three generations of LaFolettes before the people catch up to what they are working on. Borah was great. He was on the opposite side from what he usually is, that is he was trying to pacify them, and not stir em up. He was against the Mary McHaugh-in bill, and a lot of Lawyers for the farmers were for it. But the Convention voted it down, so that kills that. Coolidge always said it wouldent work. I dont know whether it would or not, but I know it never will.

It seems good to come to a Convention where some of the Public men are known. Outside Bill Borah with the Republicans nobody knows any of them. But down here when a man gets up to speak, why we all know who it is. They seem to have more color and character.



The New York delegation is coming by boat.

Special Canal

And the old town of Houston is sure set to give em a time. This Convention means a lot to the State of Texas. Thousands are seeing it this coming week that never had any idea of what it was like. I have often said, and I still say and believe it, that North Carolina has made more progress in the last few years than any other State in the Union, and Texas is next. Not a bad record when you figure that there is 48 (count em). Texas is a-humming. She has some great towns. Dont get out of the State, you Delegates, till you have seen some of the other towns they have. Course it is a little warm here now, and may be all week, but we are all overweight anyway, and havent got the Will power to reduce by less eating, so we will hinder perspire it off here.

They have a great Convention hall that they put up after they landed the Convention. They are hustlers down here.

They have to go some to do a better job of it than Kansas City did. They did mighty proud by their Republicans, and were blessed with great weather. The New York Deligation is coming in by boat, and they have built a special canal that brings em right up from the ocean.

They are talking about putting a wet plank in the platform. I hope they get it in before its over, so we can try it out and see if it works.

SEEK ELIMINATION OF GRADE CROSSINGS

Ohio Had Greatest Number of Crossing Deaths in 1927, Survey Shows

Cleveland, June 23 — Delegates to the annual meeting of the American Road Builders association here next January will seek elimination of dangerous grade crossings, it was announced here.

According to a recent survey of the association, Ohio had the greatest number of deaths and injuries in grade crossing accidents in 1927. Three hundred were killed and 619 were injured in grade crossing crashes in this state, the report stated.

Ohio, it was revealed, had 9,673 unprotected crossings. Texas, with 11,771 unprotected crossings, is the only state in the union which exceeds Ohio in that respect. The Lone Star state had 86 deaths and 350 injured last year. Wyoming, the report said, had 588 grade crossings, with no fatal accidents reported.

RABIES EPIDEMIC THREATENS COUNTY

Report Two More Cases Develop Since Killing of Mad Dog

Threatened outbreak of rabies epidemic in Tully Township of Marion County and the section of Morrow County which borders on Tully Township was reported today by Dr. N. Sifritt, Marion County Health Commissioner.

Two more cases of the disease have developed in this region since the killing of a mad dog at Martel several weeks ago. Reports from the laboratories of the state department of health showed that the heads of a cow and a dog sent there for examination Thursday were affected with rabies. The report was received here yesterday afternoon by Dr. Sifritt who sent the heads to Columbus.

The dog is known to have been bitten by the mad dog which ran at large for several days through Tully Township and the adjacent section of Morrow County. The dog on which the report was received yesterday was owned by Emerson Brownlees, of near Martel. The animal was killed Thursday when it showed signs of developing the disease.

Place Quarantine

Whether or not the cow was bitten by the mad dog which ran at large, is not known. After being sick for several days the cow died Thursday. It was owned by Simmons Bros., Morrow County farmers who live near Martel just over the Morrow County line.

It is thought that the 60-day quarantine placed on all dogs in Tully Township by the Marion County Board of Health will check a wide spread of the epidemic. The mad dog killed at Martel is known to have bitten at least six dogs. Some of these were immediately killed by the owners and others have been under treatment. The Brownlee dog is the first to develop the disease. All dogs in the township were ordered tied up for quarantine.

According to Dr. Sifritt rabies develop with 21 to 42 days after the animal has been exposed to the disease. Approximately three weeks have elapsed since the first dog was killed.

Cause Death of Six

So far Tully Township is the only section of Marion County which has been threatened with an epidemic of rabies. Fear of an outbreak of the disease in Prospect two weeks ago after several dogs died suddenly was quieted when it was found that none of the animals were affected with rabies. It is thought that the dogs died as a result of eating poison balls which are said to have been put out by some Prospect resident.

According to information received by Dr. Sifritt from the state department of health, rabies has caused the death of six persons in Ohio since January 1. Decisive measures to curb the spread of the disease have been taken in Toledo. A 90-day quarantine has been placed on all the dogs in the city. It is estimated that Toledo has 35,000 dogs.

One hundred and twenty cases of dog rabies have been reported in the state this year. Last year there were 350, the report states. The cost to Lucas County for treatment of dog bite victims in 1927 was $20,000.

Rabies have resulted in deaths this year in Findlay, Monroe County, Fulton County, Akron, and East Liverpool.

form at any cost a plank that will commit the party irrevocably to the "moral righteousness" of prohibition. The Smith people are equally determined that there will be no such plank, and, being in the majority, are fairly confident of their ability to defeat it. They are not so much afraid of the plank itself as they are fearful that the fight over it may engender so much bitter feeling that there will be a repercussion in November.

Selecting Officers

In this connection they have already made some headway through the virtual selection of Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, to be chairman of the platform committee. Senator Pittman is rated a dry, as most western Democrats are, but he does not belong to the radical fringe of the party on this question.

With Pittman running the resolutions committee, with Claude G. Bowers, a personal friend of Governor Smith's, as temporary chairman of the convention, and with the likely selection of Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, a hard hitting organization Democrat, as permanent chairman, the harmonizers feel already reasonably confident of their ability to control any situation that may arise.

MAKING SEARCH FOR BODY OF CANOEIST

Cincinnati, June 23—Search for the body of Robert Kuhlman, 20, Avondale, who was drowned when the canoe in which he was riding on the Little Miami River yesterday was overturned, was being made here today.

HOOVER SUCCESSOR?

A BANK robbery was big news in old days. Now four men hold up a bank and, to newspapers in other cities, that is "worth" just four lines. Ten Mexican troops, 22 "rebels," are killed in Mexican fighting, with many wounded, and that calls for two paragraphs. The human mind gets used to anything, and will even joke about the plague as the wagons carry off the dead.

DEMOCRATS, drafting a plank "to get the farm vote," deserve credit for optimism.

When the time comes to talk the farmers talk in the good old way. And when it comes to voting they vote in the good old way.

It takes a mental effort to change your talking or voting, and mental effort is painful.

DEMOCRATS believe that the nation is excited about the oil scandal, and that the nation is thirsty and demands wine and beer.

If the Democrats are right about those things they have two issues and should develop them. If they are wrong no appeal to farmers will do any good.

FIND $3,500 LOOT IN RAID NEAR URBANA

Sheriffs of Three Counties, Including Deal of Marion, Locate Hideaway

Rubins. Unless they are convicted in the counties in which they are now confined to jail they will be brought to Marion County and tried in Common Pleas Court here on charges of burglarizing the Prospect store, Sheriff Deal said today.

Vermillion was the only one who would talk about the burglaries. He admitted that the three had burglarized the Lauer Bros. store and also told the raiders that the entire gang had participated in more than 30 burglaries, including filling stations, grocery stores, and hardware stores.

Search of the Kline property extended over a period of four days. Officials believe there is yet a large amount of goods that has not been uncovered. Every conceivable nook and cranny of the two sets of buildings on the farm were used to hide away articles, according to Sheriff Deal.

Chests of Silver Found

Chests of silverware believed to have been taken fro mthe Lauer Bros. store were found hidden in three feet of chaff under the floor of one of the barns. A lake of about four acres is thought to contain a large amount of the gang's loot.

Goods was found under the floor and in the walls of the houses. Silk stockings had been placed in gallon tin cans together with a heavy object to give weight, and the can sealed. A number of these cans was found on shelves in the cellar. Until a closer examination was made they had passed as canned fruit.

Plenty of Mittens

Apparently little choice was exercised by the gang when a burglary was being made. Articles ranging from alarm clocks to shotguns and silverware to women's clothing was found in the loot. In some of the upper rooms of the houses a conglomeration of articles was found heaped on the floors.

Woolen hose and mittens seemed to be especially attractive. A 10-hundred box, Sheriff Deal said, would not hold all these articles. Much of the goods found had been buried so long that it was ruined. It is thought that other caches may be found buried about the farm. If possible, the lake between the two sets of buildings may be drained. What it would reveal was open to conjecture by sheriff's officials.

Gretner gave Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar." During a social hour refreshments were served and Mrs. Gretner sang several solos, playing her own accompaniment. The next regular auxiliary meeting will be held Friday, July 13, at the Dugout.

James M. Barringer Wants $300 for Damages to Packard Sedan

A petition asking a judgment of $300 for damages to a Packard sedan which he alleges had been left in the care of the defendant, was filed in Municipal Court by James M. Barringer, manager of the Marion Chattel Loan Co., against V. B. Benedict who operated the Benedict Motors, and also the Benedict Lehner garage.

Barringer charges in his petition that he had left his Packard sedan at the garage operated by Benedict, on Dec. 12 of last year and when the car was delivered to him on Dec. 13 the left headlight had been broken, the left fender damaged, the radiator crushed in, the left front brake broken and the brake band damaged, the damages reducing the selling value of the car $300.

GREY LAG GREATEST HORSE FATOR EVER BOOTED TO VICTORY

Jockey King Pays Tribute to Sensation of Several Seasons

BY FRANK G. MENKE

"The greatest horse I ever booted home was Grey Lag."

That is the tribute of Laverne Fator, perhaps the greatest of present day jockeys, to a horse that was a sensation for several seasons, went to the stud, came back last year and this season—at the age of 10 years is good enough to take the measure of the best in the land.

"I've straddled a few thousand in my day—Zev, Mad Hatter, Mad Play, the great and the near great," added Fator, "But Grey Lag tops them all.

"He had everything that a great race horse needed—speed, intelligence, lion hearted courage, endurance.

"It strikes me that the greatest race of Grey Lag's career was in 1921 when he won the Brooklyn Handicap.

"Exterminator was one of his rivals that afternoon; so was John P. Grier, who had forced Man O'War to run to his absolute limit—the only horse that ever pressed that great racer.

"Among the others were Audacious, who held a world's record; Captain Alcock, a great horse then; Eternal, Leonardo, Mad Hatter, Paul Jones, Pannaconna and Blazes.

"Leonardo, always a fast breaker, shot out like a skyrocket with the rise of the barrier. John P. Grier raced back of him, Grey Lag all this time was far back—sixth or seventh, if I remember rightly.

"After a time Leonardo cracked, John P. Grier caught him and stepped in front with four other horses striding just back of him.

"For three quarters of a mile Grey Lag just went along about his business. But as we neared the mile mark, the great colt, seemed to realize that the time was near for the big effort and began jerking his head, as if asking me to let go my tight hold on the reins so that he could run.

"Finally I let go—and then Grey Lag let go. And how! He began to lengthen his strides, increase his leaps and on and on he went, moving swiftly, faultlessly, picking up one horse, another and another, finally to loom up just back of the Grier horse in the last sixteenth.

"But the Grier colt was stepping, too. Grey Lag seemed to realize it, for when he couldn't pick up Grier with his first half dozen ordinary strides—he seemed to call on all his energy, all his reserve speed. So he crept up on Grier with each leap, caught him, raced him stride for stride for a few lengths—and then Grier had enough.

"Grey Lag went onto win by two lengths."

DRIVERS UNINJURED AS AUTOS COLLIDE

Sam R. Reber and David Wilson Figure in Accident on Bucyrus-pk

Sam R. Reber, farmer, residing at 628 Mt. Vernon-av, and David Wilson, colored, residing at the rear 364 E. Church-st, escaped without injury shortly before 9 o'clock last night when their cars collided north of the Pennsylvania track, north of the city on the Bucyrus-pk. Both machines were badly damaged.

Mr. Reber had just crossed the Pennsylvania tracks, traveling toward Marion, when his car, a Buick touring, crashed head-on into the Hudson Coach driven by Wilson, who was going north. Mr. Reber was about a foot on the wrong side of the white dividing line when the accident occurred, he admitted. He had turned out to avoid a bad place in the road and failed to see Wilson's car, which was being driven without headlights other than a dim light on the bumper, he asserted.

The owners were the sole occupants of the two cars. Both machines were taken to Albert Bros Garage, N. Main-st.

Wilson is employed at the Marion National Bank.

HEAVY FOG FORCES LINDBERGH TO LAND

New York Bound Flier Returns to Field in Conton, Pennsylvania

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 23—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh who took off from Conton near here at 5:45 a. m. today for New York returned to that town at 8:15 this morning after having been in the air almost two and one half hours.

It was believed that the fog which forced him to descend last night while enroute from Detroit to New York was still too dense over the mountains in this region for safe flying.

Lindbergh came down at Conton last night when he ran into heavy fog a few miles from here. He was immediately recognized by the crowd that gathered, and explained that he had left Detroit for New York yesterday afternoon and decided to land because it was getting late with the added danger of fog.

While he was here Lindbergh was the guest of Lehigh Valley railroad officials, inspecting the yards at Conton. He retired last night at 2 a. m. and was up again at 4 o'clock inspecting his plane.

INDIANA DELEGATION MAY BE LOST TO SMITH CAUSE

Houston, June 23 — The Indiana delegation appeared lost to Gov. Al Smith today when A. C. Cullen, former Democratic national committeeman from the Hoosier state, announced the Indianans would vote for Bruce Worden, their favorite son, "until a candidate is chosen."

Smith supporters were claiming a considerable number of Indiana delegates once the delegation left Worden. According to Bailes, a person representative of Worden, no such contingency ever will arise.

The average man is seldom willing to do the things he is constantly telling others to do.

Mad clear through because two bandits held him up and robbed his bank of $50,000, a Prescott, Arizona, cashier gave chase, killing one of them and assisting in the capture of the other with the money in his possession. It is hardly probable that that particular bank will be held up again in the near future.

Having turned over to the customs people her chek for $3,900 and secured possession of her twelve trunks, Mary Pickford may consider the incident a closed one, but a precedent has been established which may lead to not a little embarrassment to returning travelers. If they are not to return their purchase abroad at what they pay for them, how are travelers to know at what to return them?

The Republican Candidate.

Herbert Clark Hoover recognizes that a new era is at hand in the United States—that new forces have come into the economic life of the nation—and that America's setting among the nations of the world is inseparably linked with a continuation of stability and progress here at home.

This much is gleaned from his message of appreciation to the Kansas City convention for selecting him as its standard-bearer this year—a selection which undoubtedly will send him into the White House as the successor to Calvin Coolidge.

Recalling that Mr. Hoover's nomination was by far the most generous outpouring of popular acclaim for any candidate in the history of the Republican party since the days of the civil war, where there was a contest for the choice such as engaged attention of the delegates at Kansas City, one realizes that the nominee was confronted with no small task in summing up his reaction to the honor bestowed upon him.

But in the language of understanding statesmanship, and with the diction of a graceful writer, Mr. Hoover reveals himself in his message. In the following words he has made the public better acquainted with him than ever before:

"My whole life has taught me what America means. I am indebted to my country beyond any human power to repay. It conferred upon me the mission to administer America's response to the appeal of the afflicted nations during the war. It called me into two cabinets of two presidents. By those experiences I have observed the burdens and responsibilities of the greatest office in the world. That office touches the happiness of every home. It deals with the peace of nations. No man could think of it except in terms of solemn consecration."

It is clearly indicated by Mr. Hoover's words that he is not only entirely acquainted with the grave responsibilities which have been thrust upon him, but also—and this is the worth-while thought—that he is going to be the new leader and the master of his leadership.

Courage and modesty are found in his message, which are qualities the American people will applaud. The message also contains color and tone. Likewise, it gives assurance of an instant grasp of the situation which is bound to inspire and invigorate the legions which are to gather behind the Hoover [illegible]

Halt Called on the Senate.

Such has been the attention given of late to national conventions, the locating of General Nobile and his companions of the Italia, the transatlantic flight of Miss Earhart and her companions, the disappearance of Captain Roald Amundsen and his party and other news matters of more than passing moment, that it would have been something closely akin to a miracle had not many newspaper readers overlooked the recent decision of the United States supreme court holding that the Reed senate investigating committee did not have authority to sue officials of the state of Pennsylvania to compel them to turn over to it certain ballots demanded by the committee.

The senate committee based its right to take such action on the authority given it to perform "such other acts as may be necessary," a clause which is admittedly susceptible of wide application. The supreme court, however, held that such acts were not unlimited in their nature and scope; that they were limited to the acts which the senate had constitutional authority to perform and that the clause could not be held to confer authority for all the senate committee might wish to do. In a word, the court held that the powers conferred upon the committee could not transcend the powers given the senate by the constitution, and that in no event had it the authority to employ the judicial processes of the United States.

It is a matter of general recognition that the senate in recent years has made repeated attempts to encroach upon the rights and powers of the executive and judicial branches of the government. It was not so long ago that it sought to hamstring the supreme court and more recently it went out of its way to suggest how the supreme court should conduct its proceedings. It will be recalled, also, that it has set up its right to determine the fitness of a citizen elected to its membership, before such a citizen has become a member and that it has exercised that assumed right despite the warnings of the best legal minds among its membership that it was acting beyond its constitutional powers.

In the light of all the offenses it has committed along these lines, the decision of the supreme court is opportune. It is well that the senate be made to realize that its powers are not unlimited; that, at the utmost, it and the lower house of congress, constitute but one branch of the government and not all of it; that there are two coordinate branches which have certain rights and powers which the legislative branch of the government must respect. And if the legislative branch of the government is in as close touch with the feeling of the country as it should be, it should soon begin to realize that it does not hold the high place in public esteem that it once did, and that the public feeling is such that, were there a general revision of the constitution today, the chances are that its powers would be circumscribed rather than enlarged.

Beyond all question, good has been accomplished by some of the senate investigations. It may be said that the good has more than overbalanced the harm done—for harm has been done—but such good as has been accomplished has been done when the senate has acted within its powers and not beyond them. It has been when the senate has exceeded its powers that harm has resulted.

Cleveland and Akron papers have raised the price of their issues to three cents. Selling papers for less than the cost of production is no longer considered the great bit of enterprise it once was.

"When drivers can run over sidewalks to strike their victims and still be exonerated as usual," asks the Cleveland News, "isn't it about time to forgive walkers for being killed in roadways?" Uh-huh! But we true aristocrats can hardly anticipate that much of a concession from all of them. Some of 'em are mighty vindictive.

Nature Rebels Against Shocks.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Perhaps you have noticed at a moving picture show that you have felt sick at your stomach. You may have imagined that your food had turned against you. In most instances, however, nausea appearing under such circumstances is caused by eye trouble.

Lots of folks, even those who commute every day, suffer more or less from nausea, headache, and occasionally, vomiting, whenever they ride in the cars. Car-sickness differs somewhat from sea-sickness. The latter is due to the peculiar effect upon the internal ear of the "swells" or "long rolls" of the sea.

What are called the "semi-circular" associated with the internal ear, are certain spaces filled with fluid and which act as spirit-levels to determine our place in space. The pronounced movements of the ship on a rolling sea make undue demands upon these organs, and the symptoms of sea-sickness develop.

To some extent the same causes operate in producing car-sickness. But in this condition there are other more important factors. The most common of these is eyestrain, usually from lack of balance of the eye muscles.

It is perfectly natural to read on the cars, or to spend the time looking out of the windows at the rapidly-shifting scenery. In either case you are under the necessity, every moment, of changing the focus of your eyes and of turning them in different directions. The same necessity exists in looking at a moving-picture screen.

These experiences bring to notice the least failure of accurate adjustment of the focusing and moving of the eyes. Strain which would hardly be noticed in the ordinary uses of the eyes becomes very unpleasant, and results in all the symptoms of what we call car-sickness.

In car-sickness, as in sea-sickness it is hard sometimes to be sure the trouble isn't a plain case of indigestion. Sea-sickness, which is much more pronounced than car-sickness, is unmistakable in that the face and ears of the victim have a peculiar greenish, almost transparent appearance.

In persistent car-sickness the eyes should be examined to see if glasses are needed. This is not complete unless the muscles of the eyes are tested. The seeing power may be above the average, but the muscle adjustment may be very defective.

Should the eyes prove to be all right, then the ears should be examined to see if everything is normal.

There is usually some underlying cause for car-sickness, but once in a while an apparently perfectly healthy individual is found who can never swing in a hammock, ride backward on the cars, or get on a train without nausea. For such there seems to be no cure, but the average case can be overcome as I have suggested.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Wordsworth speaks of the "man of hope and forward-looking mind." The attitude that brings happiness and success in this strange and mysterious life is the attitude of the "forward-looking mind." After we are grown we should have sense enough to know that we are not going to live very long, but we should have vision enough to know, also, that life goes on and on, reaching steadily upward. Not far upward or quickly or drastically, but yet perceptibly. To make life in any sense worth living, to give our own lives meaning and purpose and direction, we must have forward-looking minds. The belief in a better day is what makes possible and profitable the work of this day.

If you think you can find nothing to do, take note that the bureau of the census lists 578 occupations in this country. Practically all of them are necessary and useful. The young man and young woman coming out of school this month ought not to be discouraged. Pick one of these 578 occupations and begin to produce. The world was never so busy, never so full of opportunities. A man said to the writer the other day that he wanted a manager for his business, but "there wasn't any." Good jobs and nobody capable of filling them! Sounds astonishing, but it's true.

NEWS FROM THE SUN.

Interesting bits of solar news came to light at the recent meetings of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific, the Pacific section of the American Physical society and other scientific organizations at Claremont, California. That pleasant university town is so near the foot of Mount Wilson, where stands the greatest solar observatory in the world, that the meetings inevitably heard much of the star which makes the climate of southern California so bright. Professor Fernando Sanford discussed electric effects of the sun on the earth. Dr. Harold D. Babcock and Mr. W. P. Hoge reported measurements of the sun's invisible heat rays. Mr. Ferdinand Ellerman recorded enormous speeds for the flames which jut out from the sun's surface and which astronomers call prominences. Some of them moved, Mr. Ellerman reported, at velocities of over a million miles an hour.

The ever-interesting sun spots at last are on the wane. For two years their number has been above average and the blame for all kinds of terrestrial effects has been laid on them, some with much plausibility. Mr. R. S. Richardson reports the descending curve of the sun spot cycle now clearly under way. Sunburn will be less violent this summer than last and still less troublesome next year, for Dr. Elliso Pettit reiterated at Claremont his conclusion from previous measurements that when sun spots are numerous, the ultra-violet rays which cause most of the sunburn are also plentiful.

The chemistry of the sun is slowly yielding to that marvelous analytical instrument, the spectroscope. Another Claremont announcement was by Dr. Seth B. Nicholson, who finds in the sun a chemical element well known on earth, but not previously identified celestially—the element boron, present in ordinary borax. This element lurks, it develops, in the darker portions of the sun spots, where it exists as gaseous chemical compounds. Although a sun spot is cooler than the average surface of the sun, it still is far too hot for any known chemical element to exist in it as anything else than gas. Spectroscopic analysis of these sun spot gases, of which Dr. Nicholson's discovery of boron is one fruit, may be the path to better knowledge not merely of what composes these remarkable spots, but of what causes them.—New York Herald Tribune.

Moon and Tide.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

"I have a theory that the tides are caused by a continual change in speed of the earth's surface with respect to its journey through space. As the earth revolves, the half on the outside of its orbit is travelling faster than the inside, because the latter is moving in a reverse direction. The speed of the earth's rotation is added to the speed of its orbital revolution on the outside and taken away on the inside. So the earth's surface is changing its rate of speed as it revolves, which, I should judge, would disturb a large mass of movable substance like the oceans. But I can not see how a direct pull by moon or sun could cause the tides. It might cause the waters to weigh slightly less, thus causing a heavy liquid mass to seek a greater orbit and the ocean to bulge up, but the moon could not move a drop of water without overcoming the earth's attraction completely.—A. J. O., Port Jervis."

You would do better to stick to Newton, who was a pretty good mathematician. It is one of the curiosities of human nature that so many people, who are neither mathematicians nor physicists, should regard not only Newton, but all the great astronomers and physicists since his time, as mere blunderers in this matter of the tides. Yet, by no means should any inquiring mind be shut off from trying out its own ideas. You have put your idea with exceptional clearness.

You are right in saying that the surface of the earth toward the inside of its orbit moves slower with reference to surrounding space than does the surface toward the outside of the orbit. Just so the rim of a wheel at the top moves faster than it does at the bottom. But in neither case is there any difference of speed with reference to the center of rotation, and the rotational motion undergoes no change whatever. There could be no such disturbance as you suggest unless one side of the earth rotated around its center faster than the other side, and if that were so, or were possible, the effect would not be to produce tides, but to tear the globe to pieces.

Although you say you can not see how a pull by the sun or moon could produce the tides, yet you show in another sentence that you are on the threshold of a mathematical understanding of the matter. The moon does decrease the weight of the water by its attraction, and the particles of water do in consequence tend to seek a larger orbit around the center of gravity. Careful calculation shows that the moon's attraction diminishes the gravitational force acting on the ocean waters by about one-8,500,000th part. The sun, because of its great distance produces a diminution less than half as great as that caused by the moon. This, however, is sufficient to account for the origin of the tides.

The pull of the moon would be far more effective than it is in diminishing the force of the earth's gravity on the waters if the earth's body were fixed in space instead of being free to move as a whole. The moon pulls the water on the surface more than it pulls the solid globe, which moves as a whole, as if it were all concentrated at its center. It is the difference between the moon's attraction on the surface and on the center of the earth that constitutes the tidal force.

Perhaps the chief cause of popular confusion and doubt about the explanation of the tides arises from the effects of the earth's rotation on its axis, which carries the crest of the tidal waves out of line with the moon. This, combined with the varying shapes of the continental barriers and the varying depth of the oceans, makes the calculation of the rise and fall of the tides at any particular place a problem of exceeding difficulty.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, June 23—Perhaps the most hazardous of all Manhattan occupations is that of the steel workers who play such an important part in flinging skyscrapers up to the clouds. Yet in proportion to their number there are fewer casualties than among motor drivers.

The steel workers are mostly in their twenties and, as might be expected, are robust and healthy young fellows without the quality known as emotional. The majority are cigarette smokers, but that is the extent of their admission to habits. They are well paid and usually thrifty.

Their immunity from danger lies almost wholly in the mental detachment from the risks they take. Once they begin thinking about the perils of the job they are in jeopardy. The sensible who find themselves indulging such a mood knock off work and go to the movies.

When one of them now and then misses a step and ricochets to disaster, all work on the building under construction is suspended for the day. Their greatest handicap is in working in high winds and on unusually blowy days they refrain from work.

Premonition is a fetish. Friday, the 13th, is anathema. And like those who flirt with death in the circus arenas, superstition is strong. When the Woolworth tower was under construction there is the story of the black cat found one day on a beam at the thirty-first floor.

Work was held up for two days. There is also the legend of the beam-walker who walked under a ladder on his way to work and decided to call it a day. His fellows tried to laugh off his fears and induced him to go to work. A half hour later he toppled to his death.

Most of them are said to have been raised on farms, where they acquired an early sturdiness and physical poise. Any number have gone to Hollywood, where their daredidoes are featured in movie thrillers, or where they are known as "stunt men."

As one fond of New York, but with a "pass" too, for the outland, I think the greatest fallacy concerns the general belief west of Jersey City that New York has a fanatical worship of money. You rather expect to see gentlemen in silk hats praying to a dollar bill on the street. A rich man in a smaller city is an important nabob and people look up to him in a way New York never does. He generally has his way about most things, socially or otherwise. But a millionaire in New York is of no more importance than an onion in Bermuda.

• • •

I have seen a few New York millionaires hanging to the outside ropes for admittance to cafes and supper clubs. That would never happen in a smaller city. The small-town millionaire's prominence and wealth automatically unlock all the doors. He is welcomed everywhere. New York makes its genuflections alone to the spender. If he happens to be a millionaire, well and good, but he doesn't get front row tables, choice theater seats and such just because he is a millionaire.

• • •

There is the specious theory, too, that one can pry into the upper crust of New York society with wealth alone as a jimmy. What is known as the "Four Hundred" is in reality about "Forty Thousand" there is the creme de la creme of society, rock-ribbed and impervious to assaults of the nouveaux riche. This refers to that fragmentary remains of the once illustrious band that always repulsed climbers and is still presided over by the dowager, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt. Wealth makes no impression on them. They hold that aristocratic fort, despite the fact that many notable ancestors peddled polecat skins, manufactured fertilizer, and half-soled their breeches with leather.

• • •

Having lived in almost every sized place from the cross roads to the Big Town, I am convinced New York leads in giving a man "the breaks." First Union Church Service Scheduled For Sunday Night

DR. DAVIS, TRINITY PASTOR, TO PREACH

"The Mission of Jesus" Will Be Speaker's Subject; His Last Sermon

AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

Young People Will Hold Services Before Regular Meeting

First of a series of union church services to be held in Marion during the summer months, will take place at 8 o'clock Sunday night at First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. U. S. Davis, who recently resigned as pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, will be the speaker. His subject will be "The Mission of Jesus." Dr. and Mrs. Davis leave in one week to make their home in the east and his sermon Sunday night will be his last as a Marion pastor.

Nine local churches, those situated in the "uptown" district, are sponsoring the union services, which will be held each Sunday night in a different church with a different pastor giving the sermon. The churches taking part are First Presbyterian, Trinity Baptist, Epworth and Prospect Street M. E., Calvary and Salem Evangelical, Central Christian, First Reformed and First United Brethren.

Young People To Meet

Music for the service will be furnished by the choir of the church at which the meeting is being held. The visiting pastors present will participate in the devotionals.

Young people from the various churches will be given an opportunity of conducting young people's meetings at 7 o'clock preceding the union service, in the church in which that service is to be held. At First Presbyterian Church Sunday night, young people from Trinity Baptist Church will be the leaders.

In addition to the congregations of all nine churches local Masons will attend Sunday night's service in a body, as their observance of St. John's Day.

Plan Musical Program

The musical program, arranged by Charles Collmer, choir director at First Presbyterian Church, will include an anthem by the choir, one number by the quartet comprised of Mrs. Marguerite Brickman, soprano, Miss Ruth Henderson, alto, V. C. Smith, tenor, and Harwood Taylor, bass.

There will be vocal solos by Miss Brickman and Mr. Taylor. Mrs. Reese T. Williams, organist at First Church, will play the accompaniment.

Two Calls

A SERMONETTE

BY REV. HERBERT F. WECKMUELLER

Pastor First Reformed Church.

IN the summer time man's fancy turns to the great out-of-doors. The beauties of nature beckon to him. He hears the call of the road; he hears the call of the grove; he hears the call of the lakes and the streams; why actually he hears the call of the fish begging to be caught.

And in response to that call, the car is greased; the reel is cleaned and oiled; the elusive bait is caught and "canned"; the lunch basket is packed, and bag and baggage the family, including the dog, go countryward.

Or perhaps the call is answered by just a drive through the country, or a picnic along the road-side in one of those beautiful nooks God seems to have hidden away for just such purposes.

On Sunday morning the Church bells send out their call; God sends out His call to worship; the open Church doors send out their call; the inborn desire in man's heart to worship sends out its call.

And in response to that call, a few of the faithful put on their Sunday "best," quietly walk to the Church, scatter themselves over an empty auditorium, and listen to a discouraged sermon.

Two calls—both worthy. Vacations and little expeditions out into the beauties of nature are fine. Would that every one could have more of them. But do not forget the call to worship. Do not forget your Church during the Summer. Do not forget the little country Church during your vacation. Do not forger your God.

The Mystery at Styles

THE YEAR'S MOST BAFFLING SERIAL STORY

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

"I must have an ally in the house," I observed reflectively.

"You have me," I protested.

"True, but you are not sufficient."

I was hurt, and showed it. Poirot hastened to explain himself.

"You do not quite take my meaning. You are known to be working with me. I want somebody who is not connected with us in any way."

"Oh, I see. How about John?"

"No, I think not."

"The dear fellow isn't perhaps very bright," I said thoughtfully.

"Here comes Miss Howard," said Poirot suddenly. "She is the very person. But I am in her black books, since I cleared Mr. Inglethorp. Still, we can but try."

• • •

WITH a nod that was barely civil, Miss Howard assented to Poirot's request for a few minutes' conversation. We went into the little morning-room and Poirot closed the door.

"Well, Monsieur Poirot," said Miss Howard impatiently, "what is it?" Out with it. I'm busy."

"Do you remember, mademoiselle, that I once asked you to help me?"

"Yes, I do." The lady nodded. "And I told you I'd help you with pleasure—to hang Alfred Inglethorp."

"Ah!" Poirot studied her seriously. "Miss Howard, I will ask you one question. I beg of you to reply to it truthfully."

"Never tell lies," replied Miss Howard.

"It is this. Do you still believe that Mrs. Inglethorp was poisoned by her husband?"

"What do you mean?" she asked sharply. "You needn't think your pretty explanations influence me in the slightest. I'll admit that it wasn't he who bought strychnine at the chemist's shop. What of that? I dare say he soaked fly paper, as I told you at the beginning."

"That is arsenic—not strychnine," said Poirot mildly.

"What does this matter? Arsenic would put poor Emily out of the way just as well as strychnine. If I'm convinced he did it, it doesn't matter a jot to me how he did it."

"Exactly. If you are convinced he did it," said Poirot quietly. "I will put my question in another form. Did you ever in your heart of hearts believe that Mrs. Inglethorp was poisoned by her husband?"

"Good heavens!" cried Miss Howard. "Haven't I always told you the man is a villain? Haven't I always told you he would murder her in her bed? Haven't I always hated him like poison?"

"Exactly," said Poirot. "That bears out my little idea entirely."

"What little idea?"

"Miss Howard, do you remember a conversation that took place on the day of my friend's arrival here? He repeated it to me, and there is a sentence of yours that has impressed me very much. Do you remember affirming that if a crime had been committed, and anyone you loved had been murdered, you felt certain that you would know by instinct who the criminal was, even if you were quite unable to prove it?"

"Yes, I remember saying that. I believe it, too. I suppose you think it nonsense?"

"Not at all."

"And yet you will pay no attention to my instinct against Alfred Inglethorp?"

"No," said Poirot curtly. "Because your instinct is not against Mr. Inglethorp."

"What?"

"No. You wish to believe he committed the crime. You believe him capable of committing it. But your instinct tells you he did not commit it. It tells you more—shall I go on?"

She was staring at him, fascinated, and made a slight affirmative movement of the head.

"Shall I tell you why you have been so vehement against Mr. Inglethorp? It is because you have been trying to believe what you wish to believe. It is because you are trying to drown and stifle your instinct which tells you another name——"

"No, no, no!" cried Miss Howard wildly, flinging up her hands. "Don't say it! Oh, don't say it! It isn't true! It can't be true. I don't know what put such a wild—such a dreadful—idea into my head!"

"I am right, am I not?" asked Poirot.

"Yes, yes; you must be a wizard to have guessed. But it can't be so—it's too monstrous, too impossible. It must be Alfred Inglethorp."

Poirot shook his head gravely.

"Don't ask me about it," continued Miss Howard, "because I shan't tell you. I won't admit it even to myself. I must be mad to think of such a thing."

Poirot nodded, as if satisfied.

"I will ask you nothing. It is enough for me that it is as I thought. And I—I, too, have an instinct. We are working together towards a common end."

"Don't ask me to help you, because I won't. I wouldn't lift a finger to—to——" She faltered.

"You will help me in spite of yourself. I ask you nothing—but you will be my ally. You will not be able to help yourself. You will do the only thing that I want of you."

"And that is?"

"You will watch!"

Evelyn Howard bowed her head.

"Yes, I can't help doing that. I am always watching—always hoping I shall be proved wrong."

"If we are wrong, well and good," said Poirot. "No one will be more pleased than I shall. But, if we are right? If we are right, Miss Howard, on whose side are you then?"

"I don't know, I don't know——"

"Come now."

"It could be hushed up."

"There must be no hushing up."

"But Emily herself——" She broke off.

"Miss Howard," said Poirot gravely, "this is unworthy of you."

Suddenly she took her face from her hands.

"Yes," she said quietly. "That was not Evelyn Howard who spoke!" She flung her head up proudly: "This is Evelyn Howard! And she is on the side of Justice! Let the cost be what it may. And with these words, she walked firmly out of the room.

"There," said Poirot, looking after her, "goes a very valuable ally. That woman, Hastings, has got brains as well as a heart."

I did not reply.

"Instinct is a marvellous thing," mused Poirot. "It can neither be explained nor ignored."

"You and Miss Howard seem to know what you are talking about," I observed coldly. "Perhaps you don't realise that I am still in the dark."

"Really? Is that so, mon ami?"

"Yes. Enlighten me, will you?"

Poirot studied me attentively for a moment or two. Then, to my intense surprise, he shook his head decidedly.

"No, my friend."

"Oh, look here, why not?"

"Two is enough for a secret."

"Well, I think it is very unfair to keep back facts from me."

"I am not keeping back facts. Every fact that I know is in your possession. You can draw your own deductions from them. This time it is a question of ideas."

"Still, it would be interesting to know."

Poirot looked at me very earnestly, and again shook his head.

"You see," he said sadly, "you have no instincts."

"It was intelligence you were requiring just now," I pointed out.

"The two often go together," said Poirot enigmatically.

The remark seemed so utterly irrelevant that I did not even take the trouble to answer it. But I decided that if I made any interesting and important discoveries—as no doubt I should—I would keep them to myself, and surprise Poirot with the ultimate result.

There are times when it is one's duty to assert oneself.

To be continued

After twenty of thirty years of not telling his troubles to anyone, a man may find that telling them isn't at all a necessity.

Love's Awakening

THE HEART STORY OF A WOMAN'S AFFECTIONS

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Adjusts Her Household Affairs by Yielding Reins

MY father's face did not change its expression of courteous acquiescence of my mother-in-law's plans, as she volubly outlined them to me. Indeed, she had no sooner finished her complacent little dictum concerning her "keeping her eye on things" during my absence than he bolstered her comment with one of his own.

"It surely is most fortunate for me that Madam Graham is in such good health and spirits," he said. "I shall be extremely busy in my own rooms this winter except when I get out for necessary exercise, and it will be pleasant for one of my indolence to know that I shall have no domestic problems.

I shall be only too glad to turn the household reins over to Madam Graham and Mrs. Bickett."

"Mrs. Bickett will have all she can do attending to Richard Second under my directions," my mother-in-law said tartly. "She won't have any time for household reins."

My father bowed with imperturbable good humor.

"That, of course, is something which must be settled between you two ladies," he said. "I have but one stipulation to make for the winter. That is that I be treated as a guest with no responsibility whatever, except for the financial end, and whatever protection a masculine member of the household may give."

"You won't be bothered by any appeals from me," my mother-in-law said. Then she rose majestically.

"I think I'll lie down as long as Richard Second is asleep," she said. "That is, if you'll be sure to stay with him, Margaret, until Mrs. Bickett gets back."

Her tone intimated that she was exceedingly doubtful about leaving her grandchild to such irresponsible care as that of his mother. But I knew from long experience that her direction was a ritual, born of her inability to realise that anyone save herself was at the helm of the domestic boat, and I gave her a smile instead of a frown with which I would have greeted such an intimation from any other lips.

"I shan't leave him," I promised and then my father escorted her to the upper hall with impressive dignity. Upon his return he put his hand on my shoulder with comprehending tenderness.

"I am proud of you, darling!" he said. "Your tact—and—restraint are admirable."

"It isn't so hard for me as you think," I told him, honestly. "Poor Mother Graham simply has the weight of the world on her shoulders all the time. She feels that she is directly responsible for every tiniest detail in the household management."

My father's smile was a bit dubious.

"I can imagine that the winter may be almost as exciting and interesting as if I were actively in service," he said. "But I think we can trust Mrs. Bickett to manage both your mother-in-law and our only Katie, without either of them suspecting the fact."

"I know we can," I assured him, tossing a sympathetic and guilty sigh at my absent little housewoman. Then I clutched at his arm, with the feeling that his reference to his work had given me an opportunity to voice the request that I had wanted to make ever since the day that the cringing Borgias, so nearly the killer of Harry Underwood, had been secretly rushed away from the farmhouse in Philip Verrier's car with Allen Drake his implacable jailer.

"Please don't ever talk about 'active service' again," I implored him. "Don't you think you've earned a rest, too, as well as Mr. Underwood? I feel as if I couldn't stand it to have you away on any more of those dangerous, mysterious journeys."

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

IT was raining and had rained into the windows on the hall floor when me and Jubilee woke up this morning, and I couldn't let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth because the rain was beating in and I would of got my shirt soaked so I took him out through the little attic door that opens on the kitchen roof and took off my shirt so it would keep dry, and I run out on the roof with the rope to let him down and when I got near the edge and went to step my foot slipped and I landed on my bussel and bounced off of the roof and might of broke myself if I had not hit and broke my mother's clothesline on the way down. As soon as I could begin to think I looked around and I was setting in the mud in our backyard with the rain coming down on me and without any more clothes on me than a rabbit, and I hopped up and wound the rope around me and tied it and then I climb up on the fence and onto Farrel's house with my feet on his house and my hands against my house and worked my way along till I got to the window and then I climb in, and wiped myself dry on my shirt and put it on and let Jubilee down and put on my britches and went down.

A fella goes to a lot of trouble for a dog, but not to any more than a dog would go for him. I was glad the bunch were not there, and especily the girls. I bet Feeble would look crosseyed at me the rest of our natural life, if I would ever let her get close enough to which I wouldn't if I could help it. When I had milked the dummed brutes and turned them out and was feeding my face my father looked out of the window and told me to not take the cows out till it stopped raining, and when I told him I had turned them out, he said to go and find them and take them to the pasture and then come home and dry myself. So then I was glad I had turned them out. And then just as I was going to go Feeble came with her slicker which a fella can see through, and she said for me to wear it to the pasture and she would wait till I got back, and my father made me do it. She is the worst buttinsky I ever did see. I thought the bunch would kooraw me for wearing a girl's slicker, but they all wanted to wear it, so we took turns, and it may be a good slicker, but all I know is we all wore it and we all got wet.

We went a new way coming back home and passed a house where the people had moved out and the yard was full of lilacs and we just about slum the bushes, and I gave Feeble back her slicker and her and me took some lilacs to Younies. Some of these days someone may marry Feeble, and then she won't have to run around with the bunch.
